

Sign a joint letter with Members of European parliaments on Iran

Deadline: Monday, March 23 (COB)

Current Signers: MP David Burrowers (UK), MP Meyer Habib (France), MP Roderich Keisewetter, MP Johann Wadephul (Germany)

Dear Colleague

The recent direction of the negotiations between Tehran and the P5+1 over Iran's nuclear capabilities has stirred much international debate.

The current negotiations are the third attempt to reach a comprehensive deal after two previous extensions of the deadline. These delays were a direct result of, among other things, Iran's refusal to abandon its rogue efforts to reach nuclear weapons capabilities. Bearing in mind Iran's history, we remain skeptical of the Iranian regime's sincerity and commitment to reach an agreement.

We believe that a nuclear Iran is an imminent threat not only to the U.S. but also to Europe, the Middle East and to the world at large. With this in mind, we are partnering with members of various European Parliaments to address our concerns to President Obama and to the heads of the European states involved in the negotiations (France, England and Germany), and express our fear of a bad deal.

We do not wish to hinder the negotiations. However, Iran must realize that any failure to negotiate an acceptable deal --one that prevents a nuclear-armed Iran -- will result in tougher sanctions than ever. As President Obama and other leaders have stressed many times, no deal is better than a bad deal. Together, we can convince Iran of this very truth -- a good deal is better than no deal.

This letter will be sent out on March 24th, the date set by the President as the deadline for reaching the framework of a deal.

Please join us and our European Partners as co-signers of the letter below.
